PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

At this moment I wish I possessed a greater power of expression to bring to you forcibly the realization of the vital importance of making certain qualities serve you in the art of unselfish, clean, and complete living.

Honesty, initiative, thrift, fair-play, tolerance, generosity, determination, and vision are some of the human qualities which we would have you acquire, and develop, so that you may succeed in shaping successful and serviceable careers.

Organized society, now more than ever, needs honest and unselfish men and women capable of constructive thought and clear vision to guide our nation to better and happier years.

Your teachers, the trustees of your school, and the citizens of your community hope that, through the education you are gaining and the beneficial habits you are forming, you will make of yourselves men and women who will merit and command the admiration and praise of your community, state, and nation.

EDITOR'S MESSAGE

The 1933 annual is not an attempt at being "different," it is an attempt at recording high school life as it is. The keynote of the world today is "Be Yourself." The stiff formality of the Victorian Age has long since disappeared, and the flurried nervousness of the post-war period has finally vanished.

Color is used to create mood. Our book is bright and gay, for boys and girls are never serious for long.

Articles written in free easy going conversational form are side by side with those of a more formal nature. They represent the different types of students in a school. How uninteresting it would be if everyone were the same.

The Broadcaster is not printed to record the progress of students in their studies. The report cards are printed for that. The Broadcaster makes it possible for you to read an accurate account of the activities of the Liberty Union High School. We have tried this year to recount the humorous occurrences with the more serious ones, as they actually happened. After all, life at school from year to year is not an open calendar of a perfectly catalogued series of events--it is a "done of many colored glass."

Gwendolyn Richardson-----Secretary-Treasurer
Willard Berry-----Sergeant at Arms
Ulrich Karrer-----Student Affairs Representative
Eva Macedo-----Student Affairs Representative
Vina Narducci-----Bank Teller
Miss Gertrude Ochs-----Advisor

The senior meetings were not very exciting until the last three months of school. Then things began to happen. When shall we have the Senior Ball? What shall we wear for graduation? Where shall we go for Ditch Day? Who will we have to take our pictures? All these questions kept coming up during the meetings. One by one, behind closed doors, they were finally attended to until there was only one question left--That about graduation? By the time you have received this annual the meetings of the class of '53 will be things of the past.

JUNIORS

Rex Griffith-----President

Fannie Douglas-----Secretary-Treasurer
Robert Moreno-----Sergeant at Arms
Gertrude Bunn-----Student Affairs Representative
Leroy Geddes-----Student Affairs Representative
Jeanne Sorgenfrey-----Bank Teller
Miss Evelyn Higgins-----Advisor

As soon as school opened, the juniors held meetings to decide on their class rings. They ordered the rings the second week of school but did not receive them until after Christmas.

After the Junior Prom the juniors gave a number of noon dances to raise money for future needs. At the end of the year they gave the seniors a theatre party. On June sixteenth, as is the custom, they decorated the stage for graduation, and three of their members acted as ushers.

There are fifty-one sophomores and when it comes to selling tickets, they have the idea. Their class was divided into two groups and the side that sold the least tickets for the student body play was forced to give a party for the winners. So, on May 31, they gave their party in the auditorium. Punch and cake were served.

On May 4 the sophomores gave the juniors a picnic at Marsh Creek Springs.

FRESHMEN

Will this meeting please come to order! Any old business? Any new business? Some one suggests a picnic. Then begins the argument about the date, place and transportation. Will this meeting please come to order again! Any more new business, if not will some one move that the meeting be adjourned? Thus ran the most important freshmen class meetings.

At the first of the year the freshmen practiced "yelling" for the basket ball games. They chose their leaders and used class meeting days for rehearsals.

On April 30 they had a picnic at Russelmann Park.

STUDENT BODY

Kenneth D'Jolley-----President
Rex Griffith-----Vice President
Olive Armstrong-----Secretary
Gertrude Bunn-----Treasurer
Willard Berry-----Sergeant-at-arms
Miss Louise Blake-----Advisor

The Student Body is the most important of all the organizations of the school.

Its purpose is to maintain the traditions of the school and to afford financial backing and organized student support for all student enterprises. It also, jointly with the office, provides the assembly programs.

The results in basketball, track, baseball and public entertainments have been very gratifying. These results were, of course, due primarily to the students themselves and their excellent coaches, but secondly to the organized support of an interested and public spirited Student Body standing solidly behind every enterprise.

The Student Body has also helped select and bring before the assemblies a number of excellent programs, a list of which appears in the calendar elsewhere in this publication. Altogether, it can be claimed that, under the leadership of its efficient corps of officers, the Student Body has accomplished in a gratifying measure, all the purposes for which it was organized.

STUDENT AFFAIRS

Ulrich Karrer-----President
Helen Bennickson-----Secretary
Gertrude Bunn-----Treasurer

The Student Affairs Committee decides upon all matters of great importance regarding the Student Body, and sets dates for the school activities. At the last meeting it was voted that the Student Body dues be reduced from a dollar and ten cents to seventy-five cents for the coming year.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

Lila Del Poza-----President
Evelyn Christensen-----Vice President
Pauline Lambdin-----Secretary & Treasurer
Arminta Middleton-----Editor of "Liberty"
Elizabeth Dickson-----Assistant Editor

The members of the Commercial Club keep themselves busy every moment of the year. They issue their paper, the Liberty, four times a year, and take care of all the commercial work of the school. During the winter they kept the basket ball spectators from chewing off their finger nails by supplying candy at 5 and 10 cents a bag. As this annual goes to press they are contemplating a trip to Stockton to see a show.

PILOTS' CLUB

Pilots' Club--Oh, a mysterious organization! The name immediately brings airplanes or motor boats to the mind, but this semi-secret organization seems to have nothing to do with such things. Only a few of the members know the aim of the organization, if there is one. It seems, however, that the person who can tell the biggest "Whoppers" automatically becomes president. Willard Berry held that office for some time but finally was impeached. The password, accidentally discovered is similar to the "razz-berries." Nobody knows what takes place at "business" meetings but it is known that water fights are staged for entertainment. The rendezvous was the science "lab" but due to little matters of dead snails and smashed beakers the members of the Pilots' Club have been barred from that room except if on school business. As this annual goes to press the club is in a state of commo.

BAND

The band, under the direction of Miss Marie Quinn, has furnished music for many school programs.

When the three-act comedy-drama "A Fair Exchange" was presented the band added much to the entertainment by playing before the play started. The selection offered was "Olympian Overture" by Ed Chenette.

The band also played for the Public Schools week program, which was held in the Liberty Union High School auditorium. It is also to be noticed that several members of the band furnished music for the noon dances.

The members of the school band and their instruments are as follows:

Trumpets

Jack De Fello
Mildred De Martini
Albert Lilliehoorn

Trombones

Daniel Lewis
Orrin Blattner

Baritone

Edwin Krumland

Sousaphone

Jack McFarlan

Clarinets

Grace Wightman
Wilmer White
Donald De Martini
Ernest Dunham
Warren Joffit

Drums

Bob Baker

Saxophones

Ieroy Geddes
Thomas Huber
Thomas Jackson
Floyd Tillotson
Richard Collins
Jean McFarlan
George Viera

RIFLE CLUB

Willard Berry-----President
Albert Lilliehoorn-----Secretary-Treasurer

The Rifle Club is a branch of the National Rifle Association Junior Rifle Corps. The association is one that is nation wide. Its object is to teach the safe and accurate handling of the rifle and to encourage its members to take part in a fine, wholesome sport.

At present there are twelve members in the club which is divided into three teams. Jack Nash, Toshio Terai and Charles Weeks are the captains. A contest was held in May to honor the winners. The two losing teams gave one dollar to each member of the winning team. Mr. Ray Graf is the Club advisor.

C. S. F.

Officers for the first semester:

Olive Armstrong-----President
Eva Macedo-----Secretary

Officers for the Second semester:

Vina Narducci-----President
Jeanne Swift-----Vice-President
Hazel Houston-----Secretary

If you want to join the C.S.F. eat lots of celery instead of spinach this summer. The C.S.F. is made up of the school's bright and shining stars. Students who have earned high grades in their studies are the only ones eligible for this honor society. There has been a considerable increase in membership this year. If it continues to increase at the same rate, in a few years all the members of this school will belong to the C.S.F. This year the club sponsored a noon dance which brought in enough money to pay for the club pins.

1932--'33 members: Olive Armstrong, Philip Furroughs, Kenneth Dwelley, Ethel Haarer, Hazel Houston, Eva Macedo, Yoneko Mikami, Vina Narducci, Jeanne Sorgenfrey, Jeanne Swift, Mary Weeks, Wilmer White and Mary Wilder.

LIBRARY CLUB

Chairman-----Mildred Cooke
Secretary--Treasurer-----Joanne Swift

"Shhh--no talking" is the first law of the library, and if you intend breaking it beware of the library's policemen, and policewomen, the members of the Library Club. They will "nab" you on the first offence. At noon you are not admitted to the library unless you have a license, a C.S.F. pin.

The Library Club members have certain duties that must be attended to:

Major Period-set stamps, write book slips, and bring the plant up from the Girls' League Room on Mondays.

1st Period-take care of the magazine stand.

2nd Period-keep the bulletin board in order.

3rd Period-take care of Library correspondence for Miss Hanley.

4th, 5th, and 6th Periods-general Library work.

GIRLS' LEAGUE

Helen Mackenzie-----President
Mary McIndoo-----Vice-President
Olive Armstrong-----Secretary-Treasurer
Fannie Douglas-----Social Chairman

Every girl who enters this high school automatically becomes a member of the Girls' League. At the first of each year this League gives a Girls' Fish Jinx to get every one acquainted. This year each upper class girl had previously been assigned a Freshman "sister" and it was "big sister's" duty to keep the "little sister" entertained at the Jinx.

For several weeks before Christmas the girls collected old toys which they mended and painted and then sent to poor children.

At the Student Body High Jinks the girls sold candy and turned over the proceeds to the Student Body.

A variety of programs was offered at the meetings during the year: September--A one act comedy; November--a talk on beauty culture by Helen Webber (an alumina); March--a talk on party entertainments by Helen Ponnickson, and May--a fashion show by the Clothing II and III girls.

POSTER CONTESTS

There was paint dripping everywhere a few days after the Student Body Play Poster Contest was announced. Numerous and varied were the compositions that were entered. Although only two prizes were given, all the posters were tacked up. The first prize, two tickets, was awarded to Jack De Nello, and the second, one ticket, to Helen Mackenzie.

Just one week had passed when the Women's Club announced a poster contest for the Flower Show. The first prize went to Lorraine Rosa and the second to Evelyn Adams.

All posters were exhibited on the day of the Mothers' Tea.

BLOCK L

James McClelland-----President
Gilman Moody-----Vice President
Arnold Machado-----Secretary-Treasurer
Mr. Frank VonderAhe-----Advisor

Block L, an organization for boys, was formed to create interest and good fellowship. These boys have sponsored several social affairs during the past year. Halloween evening a masquerade party was given in the gymnasium. Each member was permitted to invite three guests.

Thirteen members of this group proudly wear the Block L. They are: John Armstrong, Philip Burroughs, Kenneth Dwelley, Wallace Fortado, Rex Griffith, Arnold Machado, James McClelland, Stanley Milinich, Raymond Moffett, Gilman Moody, Leo Pilati, Toshio Terai and Luther Wilson.

BANKING

Eva Macedo-----Cashier

FUTURE FARMERS CLUB

Clinton Broderick-----President
John McFarlan-----Vice President
Gilman Moody-----Secretary
William Broderick-----Treasurer
Harold Fortado-----Reporter
Mr. Fetters-----Advisor

The Liberty chapter of the Future Farmers of America have had many opportunities to take part in educational activities and trips during the past year. As a part of a nation-wide organization they participate in many activities and contests of educational value in several parts of the state.

Soon after school started last fall they spent a day at the State Fair in Sacramento.

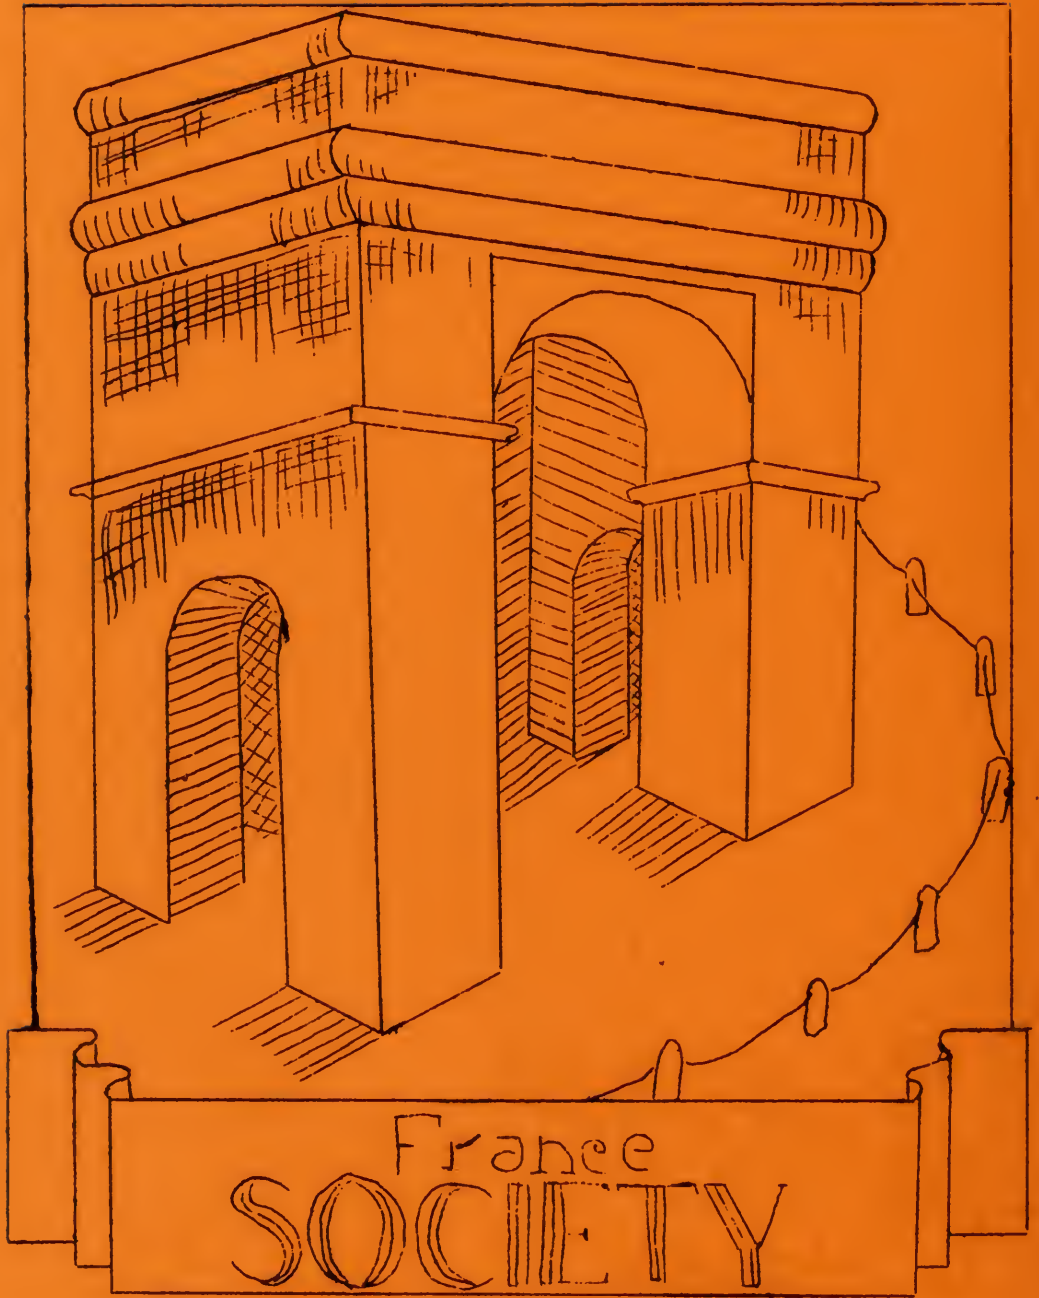

Twice this school year Future Farmers attended the Junior Livestock and Baby Beef Show in South San Francisco. Laurence Higgins was very successful in winning many awards with his show lambs.

This spring, Kenneth Drellley, Laurence Foster and Warren Kristen judged trees in the state contest at Davis. They won first place in apricots and Kenneth was high man in pears.

They built a lath propagation house on the school grounds in which they are growing plants for beautifying the school grounds and the homes of future farmers.

Home projects constitute a most important phase of their work. Each member is expected to be planning while doing, so he is required to have a project. In sectional competition this year Liberty had five winning projects. Arnold Machado had four acres of grapes; Wilson Ackerman, two acres of sweet corn; Jack Richardson twenty sheep; and Andrew DeMartini one hundred chickens.

THE GIRLS' LEAGUE HIGH JINKS

The first social event of the year was the Girls' League High Jinks which was held on September 12. Each year the Girls' League gives this party to help the freshmen girls "Get Associated." The girls arrived in costumes representing just about everything imaginable. Geraldine Smith, a twinkling freshman fairy, flew away with the prize.

While playing games the lights suddenly went out and there was a wild shriek. Someone was lying prone. Of course there had to be a trial, so the detective arrived. Eventually the culprit was convicted and punished while the limp girl came to life and saw justice administered. It was just a game of "Murder." Late in the night the crowd consumed ninety-nine water mollons.

FRESHMAN RECEPTION

In the early days (October 1932) when the freshmen were shy and wide-eyed (sophomores now) the wise and cynical upper classmen gave them a party (Freshman Reception). This is the one and only party that the freshmen do not have to help prepare. What a night it was. But Alas! when the fun was over and everyone was back at school next day the freshmen were made to clean up the remains of the revelry. What price glory!

HIGH JINX

"Forty below zero--gosh what a night! It weren't a night fit fer man 'er beast."

Even real snow helped the 49'er atmosphere of the annual Hi Jinx held December 9, in the auditorium of the Liberty Union High School. The school was turned into a town - reminiscent of "Strawberry Flat" or "Hang Man's Gulch" at the height of its career. There were Main, Comstock, O'Riely and Eldorado Streets which were lined with concessions. Here, for a nickle or dime, anyone could gamble away his fortune at "The Silver Slipper Bar Room" or take out his revenge at "Henfruit Gallery."

Early in the evening a program was given at Mugg's Place. It was furnished by the town children. The first thing on the program was a piece by the "Old HomeTown Band." The next number brought us old folks to our younger days--it was "Readin' 'n Ritin'." The cast:

Teacher-----Helen Mackenzie
Edward Longstreet---- Wilmer White
Fanny Stanhope-----Elizabeth Dickson
Algernon McSwiggan----George Dwojley
Flossie Arnheim-----Angela Ghiozzi
Bob Andrews-----Sammy Somerhalder
Tom Harwood-----Raymond Moffet
Jane-----Chrystal Wilkins

Eight girls danced the Virginia Reel. They were: Naomi Reeves, Helen Bonnickson, Gertrude Bunn, Ramona Dunning, Marian Ghigliazza, Helen Hudson, Laura Narducci and Jessie Richards. Following the Virginia Reel there was a pantomime which told us about:

Innocent Belle-----Mary McIndoo
Honest Bill-----Owen Roark
Dangerous Dan-----Miles Allen
Uncle Ike-----Tommy Jackson
Clever Clarice-----Margaret Gagonet
The Squire-----Jack Nash

Our well-known cornetist, Jack De Mollo, played a solo. He was accompanied by Anna Bachman. After the solo a one-act play was presented (a 1933 touch to things.) This play was called "Extra" and took place in a newspaper office. The cast was:

Albert McMaughton----- Jack Viera
Miss Auda Due-----Ilene Crowther
Miss Flora Grade-----Mary Weeks
Henry Hemingway-----Ernest Dunham
Blaine Evans-----Fannie Douglas
Hilary West-----Leroy Geddes
Tom Shea-----Jack Hildreth

Sammy Somerhalder, Joe Braz, John Armstrong, Ernest Dunham, Theodore Nunes sang "O' Susana" and "Clementine."

The program was ended when Mr. Nash, the "Mayor" of Liberty spoke. Everyone then adjourned to Mugg's Place where a dance was held.

ENGLISH TRIP

It is not every day that the school allows students to take a day off to go on a spree. But it happened when eleven students and Miss Louise Blake left early on April 5 for San Francisco to see Walter Hampton in Shakespeare's Hamlet at the Columbia Theater. Before lunch the students explored the famous "Old Ironsides." After that everyone felt hungry so some picniced in Golden Gate Park, and the others ate at Lucca's Italian restaurant. Due to the quantities of spaghetti and cracked crabs that were served, it was difficult to have the best of table manners.

After the meal a rush was made for the theater. It must be told that some one carried along a miniature ukulele. Probably he thought that he was attending a minstrel show. However only a few "plunks" were heard during the performance.

There were no dire accidents. One girl's heel came off her shoe. Imagine her embarrassment. Another person decided that he might have some fun in the city so he said that he was going to stay all night. He did not come for ten days.*

Those who went on the trip were: Robert Bailey, Ilene Crowther, Jack Hildreth, Helen Mackenzie, Warren Moffit, Lewis McNeal, Gwendolyn Richardson, Joanne Swift, Jeanne Sorgenfrey, Caroline Webber, Julien Wagenet, Miss Louise Blake.

* (He stayed with relatives)

TRAVEL MOVIE

Lions! Tigers! Seals! Polar Bears! All to be seen for a dime! . . . travel movie was given during school hours in the auditorium. Mysterious Africa was thoroughly explored and then the freezing North was carefully investigated. Last but not least, a Nutt and Jeff comedy appeared. It is doubtful as to whether Africa, the North or Nutt and Jeff was enjoyed the most.

MOTHERS' TEA

Dutch Tea! Does that mean Dutch treat? I should say not! The Girls' League supplied plenty of food for everyone. It simply means that the Mothers' Tea was carried out to represent a social afternoon in Holland. The invitations were written on cards with hand painted Dutch scenes on them. The programs were blue with a Dutch boy and girl at the top of the page. After the entertainment everyone went to see the art and sewing exhibit in Miss Ochs' room. Then girls in Dutch peasant costumes served cookies, tea, and cinnamon toast in the Library.

PICNICS

"Say! Come back with that cake! Well the nerve of some people's children!"

These were the wails heard from the picnickers when Tommy Jackson cut himself half of a big pineapple cake and ran up the hill.

The juniors, Miss Higgins and Mr. Callaghan were entertained by the sophomores and Miss Blake at a picnic at Marsh Creek Springs on May 4. Swimming, baseball, and dancing were the chief amusements (the cake was Tommy's). Mr. Callaghan became so interested in wild flowers that, when it came time to go home, he was nearly left behind.

One day the freshmen decided to give themselves a picnic so, on April 30, they hired a school bus and went to Russelman's Park. A freshman's description of the picnic was: "We hiked and swam and played ball and ate, and then hiked and swam and played baseball and ate and came home."

On May 25 the girls of the losing basket ball team gave a picnic to the winning team. They went to Marsh Creek Springs at three o'clock and returned at seven-thirty. The next day everyone was stiff and sore as a result of swimming, hiking, and maybe--too many "weenies."

PROM

The annual Junior Prom was held on the evening of March 17. The high school auditorium was festooned with yellow and green paper streamers to represent the tropical island of Hawaii. At the back of the stage a snow-capped mountain was painted at the foot of which was a lake fringed with graceful palms. Punch was served at a little grass hut.

SENIOR BALL

You may call the seniors "Night Hawks", if you will, but they found that it was far easier to decerate under the moon than under the scorching sun. They even went after the greenery at night. The setting for the Ball was a penthouse. Skyscrapers were built on the stage and the orchestra was on the penthouse porch. Serpentine swirled through the air. At eleven o'clock many colored balloons floated down from the balcony only to collapse with a resounding pop when they reached the dancers. Punch was served in the court at a blue booth.

The Jewish dialect as handled by Rex Griffith and Hazel Houston proved very entertaining to everyone at the Student Body Play, "A Fair Exchange" on March 31. It was a comedy on the order of "Abbie's Irish Rose" which kept the audience in a gale of laughter.

Isaac Goldberg (Rex Griffith) who owned an apartment house heard of a farmer (Jack Barnard) who wished to exchange his farm for a home in the city. Each thought that the other's work was the easier. When the exchange was made neither was satisfied. Isaac had several sad experiences with goats' horns and horses' hoofs. The farmer pined for his farm. Finally the inevitable happened, the farmer's daughter married the city man's son and the parents took back their former abodes.

Everybody lived happily ever and ever----

TRACK MEET

The date set for the County track meet dawned cold and dreary. The meet was at Pittsburg and six high schools were represented, Antioch, Pittsburg, Mt. Diablo, John Swett, San Ramon and Liberty. Just before the meet began the wind came up and blew a terrific gale. The spectators hung on to their hats with one hand and fastened their coats with the other, while the athletes sprinted up and down trying to keep warm. We entered five men.

A team-

Johnny Armstrong-----Pole Vault
Kenneth Drelley-----Broad Jump and High Jump
James McClelland-----Discus

C team-

Alvy Cavalieri-----Three-quarter mile
Wilson Lickerman-----Three-quarter mile

Johnny Armstrong tied for fourth place in the pole vault. Kenneth Drelley tied for second in broad jump and James McClelland took fourth in the discus.

BASKET BALL

A Team Scores

Liberty 7	VS	Pittsburg 58
Liberty 24	VS	John Swett 32
Liberty 21	VS	Antioch 26
Liberty 9	VS	Diablo 36
Liberty 20	VS	Alhambra 34

Although the Liberty team put up stiff fights and played good ball against the other schools' teams, it was unable to win any games in the County League.

In practice games with schools of its size the team faired better, winning over half of the games.

As an award for the winning of the Diablo Valley Basket Ball Tournament, in which they defeated seven teams, the team received a cup and each member, a gold basket ball. Rex Griffith, Liberty's forward was also presented with a cup for having the highest individual score.

Liberty was without a B team this year because only a few boys filled the revised requirements for B teams.

A Team Squad

Stanley Hillinich-----Center
Rex Griffith-----Forward----Leo Pilati
Philip Burroughs----Forward----R. Horfett
Luther Wilson-----Guard----J. McClellane
Toshio Terai-----Guard----Gilman Moody

C Team Scores

Liberty	8	vs	Pittsburg	22
Liberty	4	vs	John Swett	28
Liberty	11	vs	Antioch	20
Liberty	13	vs	Diablo	41
Liberty	20	vs	Alhambra	24

The C Team also was unable to score a victory in the league, but each game was played with more enthusiasm than the last.

C Team Squad

George Wilson-----Center
Orville Wristen-----Forward--Jack Barnard
Glen French-----Guard-----Jack Nash

BASEBALL

Practice Games

Liberty	6	vs	Tracy	2
Liberty	8	vs	Escalon	6

League Games

Liberty	1	vs	Martinez	3
Liberty	0	vs	Crockett	22
Liberty	7	vs	Antioch	9
Liberty	5	vs	Concord	10

With the practice games scores in their minds the boys started the league games with high hopes. Although they were proved to be no equals for the other teams of the league and their hopes were not fulfilled, they kept up their fighting spirits to the last.

Only three members of the team will be graduated, so the remaining players hope that next year they will be able to accomplish that which they hoped to accomplish this year.

TEAM

Machado-----	Catcher-----	Rubio
	Catcher-----	French
Moffett-----	Pitcher--	W. Tertado
Griffith-----	1st Base
Moody-----	2nd Base
T. Terai-----	S. S.
L. Wilson-----	3rd Base
Hanson-----	L. F.
Morgan-----	C. F.
McClelland----	R. F.

TENNIS

The girls have played hard and fast this year although most of the matches were among themselves. The boys also have played good ball, and they took part in the county tournament.

By the matches at home they have been placed on the tennis ladders according to their playing ability. The eight highest on each ladder at the time the annual went to press were:

Mildred Cooke	-1-	James McClelland
Jessie Richards	-2-	Samuel Somerhalder
Helen Mackenzie	-3-	Edward Flanders
Anna Bachman	-4-	Lewis Berry
Mary Mackenzie	-5-	Jack Barnard
Chrystel Wilkins	-6-	Thomas Jackson
Helen Bonnickson	-7-	Andrew DeMartini
Betty Shoemaker	-8-	Jack DeFello

At the meet at Antioch on June 6, Toshio Terai won the singles, Jessie Richards and Mildred Cooke won their set, Lewis Berry and Sammy Somerhalder won one game and lost two, and Mildred Cooke and Don Hingley lost the mixed doubles.

THE SKYLARK'S FRIEND

Since the beginning of our Contra Costa County there have been many outstanding characters in its history. If we include the bay regions, we find that there are three who come to our minds the first thing. They are John Marsh, Joaquin Miller, and John Muir. These men are our earliest pioneers and have done much in their ways to help our county and the adjacent regions.

Marsh realized the productive quality of this county. Miller directed attention to its beauty. Muir helped to preserve the beauty. John Muir's fame lies not only in his assistance to the county, but in his undivided attention and ceaseless efforts to preserve the scenic beauty of California. His untiring efforts to create our national parks prompted him to write several books on the subject.

It might well be said that John Muir's first steps led him towards the world of nature. From the time he was a small boy until his death he was enthusiastic about nature's creations and creatures. His greatest pleasure was to take a walk with his grandfather. He glorified in nature decked out in her most beautiful garments of green, blue, red, violet, and yellow. Repeated whippings and various privations did not dull his thirst for learning about nature.

John Muir and Percy Shelley should have gone hand in hand through life, for what John Muir could not put in poetry Shelley could. Both men loved nature, and both realized the wondrous beauty about us from the modest violet hidden by leaves to the free skylark soaring in the heaven.

Here Shelley speaks of the skylark:

Hail to thee blithe spirit
Bird thou never wert
That from Heaven, or near it
Pourest they full heart

In profuse strains of unpremeditated art.

Muir says in "My Boyhood and Youth": "And finally only one of us would be left to claim that he still saw the skylark. At last he, the boy, too, would have to admit that the singer had soared beyond his sight, and still the music came pouring down to us in glorious profusion, from a height far above our vision, requiring marvelous power of wing and marvelous power of voice, for that rich, delicious, soft, and yet clear music was distinctly heard long after the bird was out of sight."

John Muir, through his love for nature learned to interpret nature's ways, and to see the things to which an ordinary person is blind. He was brought into close communion with the elemental world.

As we read John Muir's books we feel that we are participating in a glorious adventure. We feel that John Muir is speaking to us in particular, imploring us not to abuse nature's gifts and entreating us not to overlook her importance. His descriptions are so real that we can fairly smell the resin in the pines as they murmur in the wind or the perfume of the heather as it blossoms on the moor.

His greatest desire was to watch nature as she really was, stormy or calm, restless or indifferent. He could watch the birds for hours as they quarrelled or rejoiced. He would risk his life to be able to watch nature when she was most troubled, for he believed that she was at her best at that time. He would enjoy an earthquake or an avalanche. Muir liked to feel that the world was alive, he realized that the earth's crust was merely shifting. It is said that he once climbed a pine tree in a terrific storm to experience the fury of the elements.

Contra Costa County is proud to be able to claim John Muir for her own. He is a man among men--a man whom the young people should idealize.

GOOD-BYE SCHOOLDAYS

Good-bye, schoolhouse! Good-bye, books!
My pockets full of fishing hooks,
I've found my last year's straw hat,
My swimming suit and baseball bat,
I'm going to Grandma's house next week
And swim all summer in Sugar Creek.
And whether it shines or whether it pours,
Grandpa and I are going to live outdoors.
We'll work by the campfire, and talk about
When I'm old enough to be a scout.
And we don't want to be in the house at all,
Till the school bell rings again next fall.

WHY WE HAVE TWO PALM TREES
IN FRONT OF OUR SCHOOL

Once upon a time two sons of Freya, the goddess of the mountains, were gazing at the magnificent Mount Diablo. Suddenly out from the side of rocks appeared a huge cloud of smoke. Slowly the rocks rolled and revealed an enormous dragon. Seeing the two sons of the goddess, he immediately started to pursue them. The terrified children ran with all their might, but the dragon kept coming closer every minute. One of them called to his mother and she, realizing the danger, turned her sons into sacred palm trees. An arrow struck the dragon just as he was ready to catch one of the sons. As the dragon passed away a beautiful white building bloomed in its place. To this day the palm trees have stood where the boys were when the dragon was about to overtake them.

TOUCHSTONE TORTLES JULIA, HIS FIANCEE

Characters:--1 Touchstone
2 Julia, his fiancee

JULIA:--My most jolly fiance, when is our big event to be?

TOUCHSTONE:--What event? I do not catch your line.

JULIA:--It isn't a line. Isn't possible that you are ignorant of the fact that we are to be coupled soon? Don't be so dumb!

TOUCHSTONE:--I'm not dumb,--for I'm speaking. But it's news to me----maybe I am dumb.
By the way, how is "what d' ya call it" getting along? Do they think he will always be dumb?

JULIA:--Now, who is "what d' ya call it"? Maybe you for all I know. Do be more explicit!

TOUCHSTONE:--Who?

JULIA:--Explicit! but I'm asking you who?

TOUCHSTONE:--Who? What? What are you who-whoing about now?

JULIA:--Oh dear; you're hopeless!

TOUCHSTONE:--No, really, I'm not hopeless. I even have hopes of marrying someday.

JULIA:--Who? Whom are you going to marry?

TOUCHSTONE:--Who knows! I may even consider you!
JULIA:--May even consider me? Well,---I like that!
TOUCHSTONE:--I'm glad you do.
JULIA:--I didn't ask for sarcasm. But to get back to the subject, when are we going to be married? I must have a trousseau, you know.
TOUCHSTONE:--Haven't you a true soul? Hm! I may change my mind about marrying you and remain a bachelor.
JULIA:--Do! See if I care!
TOUCHSTONE:--I shall.---Good day!

EVENING AT LAKE TAHOE

One evening I wandered down to the shore of Lake Tahoe. It was just after the sun had set and a tranquil peacefulness was over everything. The tall pines on the shore waved gently in the breeze; the water lapped softly on the sands, and far out on the water a canoe glided. On the distant shore mountains rose, silhouetted against the evening sky. A breeze, carrying the scent of pines, made small waves in the water. Gradually the moon rose, casting a golden glow over the water and deepening the shadows 'midst the tall trees. As I sat there, I realized how beautifully Nature was represented in this paradise of beauty set amidst a rim of mountains--Lake Tahoe.

PROMISE

I stand on the edge of the lily pool at night
I have come out for the last breath of air
Before the day is taken from me forever.
It is dark.
The stars above are beautiful and gleaming,
They bring a thought to me.
"The darkest night the world has ever known,
Did not put out the stars."
A sentence
That speaks of those who have stumbled and fallen
To get up and to go on.

VULNERABLE

One beautiful autumn morning a terrific physics exam was pending. The class convened but two students, previously seen that morning, did not arrive. While taking the exam certain young men shuffled their feet and cleared their throats with extreme vigor. Faint noises were heard across the hall. From within the room the clearing of throats began again. When the period was over-and gone-two embarrassed seniors were seen emerging from the science store-room in which they had been locked for two and a half hours. What Mr. Callaghan did to the captors we don't feel quite privileged to say, but we do know that the ill-used seniors had to take their exam anyway.

Ask Robert Bailey and Kenneth Dwelley what it feels like to be jailed for a couple of hours in a science room by a gang of "hoodlums." You may get an answer and you may not. You must use the right technique.

SWALLOWS

Certain students of our beloved high school seem to have had a bet to see who could eat the most unusual things. In the course of the year one student swallowed a worm, another got a live fly in his mouth while yawning in class, and still another consumed the key to his Ford. We think that the latter must have won the bet by a large margin. Take your pick.

SENIORS REIGN SUPREME!!!

It seems that when this school year was very young and the 1933 Seniors had but just come into power, their basket ball banner, so valiantly won, disappeared! It was regained only to disappear again. Unfortunately for the Sophomore Class, some of its members were seen, early in the morning, exploring the seniors' major room. Then did the wrath of the Senior Class descend upon the sophomores. With but one thought, revenge, the seniors grabbed the guiltiest looking sophomore and took him to the back of the school house. A few minutes later the bell rang for the school to begin and the victim was left with a cardboard box around him and his trousers waving merrily in the breeze. Guilty, or not guilty, that is the question.

WE WONDER WHY--

Tipping back in chairs makes Miss Logan uneasy.
Garlic has grown very distasteful to Miss Blake.
Miss Ochs got so sunburned on a certain day in April.
Mr. Callaghan's greatest worry is that first period in his "lab."

Mr. Fetters remembers February 14, 1933.

Mr. Vonder Ahe objects to chewing gum unless it is a class activity.

Miss Manley lets George Drelley have the run of the school.

Miss Higgins never misses a picnic.

Mr. Nash is glad the Senior Ball comes only once a year.

Miss Clark would like the Broadcaster to be issued in September.

Mr. Graf is getting temperamental.

*****

What student body officer was caught this year shooting
"craps" by Mr. Nash?

What certain girl doesn't like to hear about "shooting stars?"

*****

(Actual Occurrence)

Gwen: There isn't much sense in marrying because no one has any money now!

Willard: Hey! I have two dollars and seventy-five cents.

*****

Famous Last Words of a Certain Senior.

What is Venus De Milo's theme song?

"Farewell Two Arms."

*****

Kenneth: How in the world do you part your hair?

Clarence: I don't, only blocks have alleys.

THE OLD AGE BLUES

When the teeth in your gums get brittle,
And you can't spit over your chin;
When you're not worth a jot or a dittle,
On knees that flop out and in,
When your appetite grows little,
And your hair gets thinner than thin;
When you're a little too feeble to whittle,
Good gosh! what a shape you're in.
